

Tenant Charges Policy (QLD)

1. Purpose

To explain how HOME in PLACE (Queensland) Limited (HOME in PLACE QLD) will identify and manage liability for damage or services to a property.

2. Scope

This policy applies to all HOME in PLACE QLD tenancies. The policy only applies to tenant charges incurred as a result of property damage and/or property care issues.

The policy applies to all workers, directors, and members of HOME in PLACE decision-making committees and advisory bodies. The policy applies to third parties engaged to carry out activities on behalf of HOME in PLACE if stipulated by agreements.

3. Policy Statement

HOME in PLACE QLD provides tenants with properties that are clean, safe and functional. Tenants are responsible for reporting and damage or maintenance issues to HOME in PLACE QLD in a timely manner. Making timely reports means that properties are adequately maintained, and maintenance costs minimised over the longer term.

HOME in PLACE QLD will manage tenant charges in a fair and transparent manner and in accordance with its obligations under the Residential Tenancies and Rooming Accommodation Act 2008 (QLD). Tenants are expected to take good care of the premises and keep them reasonably clean. Tenant damage is defined as damage that is the result of the deliberate action or negligence of a tenant, household member or visitor.

Not all damage is caused deliberately or through neglect, fair wear and tear means damage that happens to a property through ordinary day to day use of the property by the tenant, for example, carpet becomes worn over time from people walking on it. Fair wear and tear will be considered in determining tenant charges.

Managing Tenant Charges

Under the Residential Tenancies & Rooming Act 2008 (QLD), landlords and tenants have responsibilities in relation to the property.

HOME in PLACE QLD Responsibilities:

- Abide by the terms and conditions of the tenancy agreement and ensure the property is safe, clean and functional;
- Conduct periodic inspections throughout the tenancy;

- Conduct a final inspection with the tenant (where possible) when the tenant vacates the property and complete an exit condition report;
- Collect and record information, including photographs, showing the type of damage and how it may have occurred;
- Provide the tenant with written notice of the damage/cleaning when HOME in PLACE QLD considers this is the responsibility of the tenant;
- Provide the tenant with the opportunity to remedy any damage by arranging repairs; and
- Ensure that recovery the costs of repairs/maintenance is managed fairly and transparently.

Tenant Responsibilities

- Abide by the terms and conditions of the tenancy agreement;
- Take good care of the property and keep it reasonably clean;
- Tell HOME in PLACE QLD as soon as possible if the property has been damaged or there is a maintenance issue;
- Pay any costs for damage that is the result of a deliberate action or caused by the negligence of the tenant, household member or visitor;
- Comply with any Queensland Civil & Administrative Tribunal (QCAT) orders to pay the cost of repairs, cleaning or other charges;
- Report to the police any damage that is suspected to have resulted from criminal activity, for example, break and enter, vandalism or domestic violence; and
- When they vacate, the property is restored to the condition it was in at the start of the tenancy except for fair wear and tear.

The following types of damage or services may incur tenant charges:

- Broken windows;
- Holes in doors, walls, cabinetry;
- Burns or other damage to carpets beyond fair wear and tear;
- Broken and damaged clothesline;
- Broken locks or where keys have not been returned at the end of tenancy;
- Damaged/missing doors and screens;
- Damage to toilets and basins;
- Sewer chokes caused by items flushed down the toilet, such as wipes, nappies, toys;
- Costs associated with the removal of tenant property at the end of the tenancy;
- Unauthorised alterations to the property;
- End of tenancy cleaning; and
- Call out fees (where a tenant is not available for pre-arranged trade attendance).

Determining Responsibility

Damage to the property that is the tenant's responsibility includes:

- Damage that is intentional;
- Failure to take care to prevent damage (neglect);
- Failure to keep the property reasonably clean;

- Accidental damage to the property that is caused by the tenant, any member of the household, pets or any visitor who enters the property with the tenant's consent;
- Failure to restore the property to the condition it was in at the start of the tenancy, allowing for fair wear and tear; and
- Intentional damage, or neglect leading to damage, that is caused by any member of the household, pets or any visitor who enters the property with the tenant's consent.

To determine who is responsible for the cost of repairing damage HOME in PLACE QLD will:

- Take into account the type of damage and any information the tenant provides when reporting the damage;
- Inspect the property, document and photograph the damage where appropriate;
- Discuss the damage with the tenant and record information the tenant or a third party, including a contractor, gives HOME in PLACE QLD about the possible cause of the damage;
- Consider the condition of the property at the start of the tenancy and any work undertaken during the tenancy by referencing the entry condition report, routine inspection reports and repair history;
- Consider fair wear and tear;
- Take into account damage due to an emergency situation where the tenant was at risk; and
- Consider all the circumstances of the tenancy.

Damaged caused by domestic violence events

If damage is caused by domestic violence the tenant may not be charged if they:

- Are the victim of the offence;
- Report the damage to HOME in PLACE; and
- Provide evidence that they have reported the matter to an authorised professional, as detailed in Section 37(c) of the Residential Tenancies and Rooming Accommodation Regulation 2025 or other relevant evidence accepted under the Domestic and Family Violence Protection Act 2012 (QLD).

If a residential tenancy agreement ends under Section 308D(2) of the Act, the tenant is also not liable for any costs relating to goods left at the premises.

Damage caused by other illegal activity

HOME in PLACE QLD will consider any damage caused by alleged criminal activity such as break & enter or vandalism. HOME in PLACE will consider each case on its merits before making a decision on who is liable for the damage/costs. Damage should be reported within 14 days of the damage occurring. The tenant will be asked to provide evidence about the event including:

- Confirmation that the activity has been reported to the Police;
- A Police report;
- Witness/victim statements;
- Queensland Police (QP) Event Number;
- Statutory declaration outlining how the damage was caused; and

A police event number on its own will not be accepted as sufficient evidence of alleged criminal activity.

Repeated or Serious Incidents of Tenant Damage

When HOME in PLACE QLD has sufficient evidence of repeat or serious incidents of damage to a property that a tenant is responsible for, HOME in PLACE QLD may issue a Notice to Remedy Breach, a Notice to Leave, or take action to end the tenancy.

Recovering Outstanding Tenant Charges

HOME in PLACE QLD will work with tenants to find the most appropriate means of paying outstanding tenant charges. This includes:

- The tenant entering into a payment plan to repay the charges;
- Taking action at the QCAT for a money order.

Review of Decisions

If a tenant does not agree with a decision HOME in PLACE QLD has made, they should first discuss this with a Tenancy Relations Officer and seek a review of the charges. If the tenant is still dissatisfied, they have the right to lodge an appeal for a formal review of the decision. Appeals Request forms are available on the HOME in PLACE website or by contacting a HOME in PLACE branch.
